The fastest growing homeless segment in our nation is women with young children.

Women who find themselves homeless are in crisis. Their primary concern is finding food, shelter, and clothing for themselves and their children.

Second to losing a parent, homelessness is the most traumatic event a child can experience.

All the services offered at Clare House are designed to lead a family out of despair and instill hope for a practical path to economic stability and self-sufficiency.

Your Support Matters

Thanks to compassionate supporters like you, we are able to provide a safe place where these vulnerable families can find help.

Please consider the positive impact you can have on Alaska’s families and youth for years to come.

What We Do

EMERGENCY SHELTER SERVICES

Clare House provides a 24-hour, safe and warm emergency shelter and meets basic needs for women with children and expectant mothers for up to 90 days.

Moms and kids are often in compromised situations sleeping in a car or on the street with no where else to go before they find refuge at Clare House.

Case managers work closely with families to obtain the resources necessary to secure a permanent home.

Facts about Clare House

- On average, 430 women and children a year find a safe place to sleep at Clare House
- Clare House aims to break the cycle of poverty by offering life skills classes
- About 60% of participants at Clare House are children
- Volunteer groups provide meals at Clare House 365 days a year

Progressive Housing Program

As part of our continuous effort to find solutions for women with children experiencing homelessness, Clare House offers a ladder up progressive housing program. Families pay a reduced rate for rent and stay for up to two years while they work towards self-sufficiency. Participants save funds as Family Support Staff connect them with resources to find permanent housing. The progressive housing model has reduced the number of moms and kids re-entering the shelter from 15% to 3%.
